

FISH AQUARIUM VASTU BY ASTROENGINEERS

As per Vastu Shastra, fish tank position is considered to be the best in the north or east direction and it should never be kept in the south direction. It should be kept in the living room only in the house.

As per Vastu, one should not keep a fish tank in the bedroom as it can cause sleep and food-related problems.

Ideally, aquariums in Vastu are always placed in the living room as it improves socialization skills, attracts kin and friendship. Place it in the north, east or north east, if you are looking for financial profits and career growth.

Placing it on the left side of the main door can sustain love in a marriage, but placing it on the right side may tempt a spouse to seek out an extra-marital affair. Never place it in the centre of any space as it will financially drain you, or in the bedroom as it will give you vivid dreams.

Centrally-located pillar aquariums are problematic as well because they cause financial instability.

Always choose a round or rectangular aquarium, in a shape that is easy to clean. “Triangular aquariums look chic and are in vogue, but the triangle is the elemental symbol for fire, thus is unlucky,”

“When a fish dies a natural death, it is said to have taken on some misfortune that could have affected the family and should be replaced immediately,”

Over the years, there have been many rules to help fishkeepers work out how many fish their aquarium can support, with the simplest being the classic 'one inch of fish per gallon of water' rule.
